Republican County Convention. The republican electors of Madison county ebraska, are requested to send delegates from Nebraska, are requested to send delegates from the several votting precincts to meet in convention at Battle Creek. Nebraska, on Saturday. September 18th, at 11 o'clock a.m., for the purpose of selecting delegates to the republican state and judicial conventions and for the purpose of placing in nomination candidates for county offices as follows:

Clerk of the district court, county clerk, county treasurer, county sheriff, county judge, county superintendent of schools, county corner, county surveyor and county commissioner for the First commissioner district and to transact such other business as may properly some before the convention.

transact such other business as may properly come before the convention.

The several precincts are entitled to representation as follows, the apportionment being based upon the vote cast for Hon. M. L. Hayward for governor in 1898, being one delegate at arge for each precinct and one for each twenty votes or major fraction thereof:

Norfolk

Grove Green Garden..... Fourth ward..... Outside..... Deer Creek...... Shell Creek...... School Craft..... Battle Creek Madison....

It is recommended that no proxies be admitted and that the delegates present cast the entire vote of the precinct. Primaries should be held not later than September 6, 1896.

J. Pierpont Morgan is said to be one of the best pool players in New York. It is also said that he plays a very fine game in the stock market.

A New England scientist claims that a man may live indefinitely on sugar and alcohol. Some doubt is cast upon his own faith in the claim, as he continues to live in the same old way.

There are so many newspaper versions of the cause of the death of the czarowitz, heir to the throne of all the Russias, that the ordinary reader may pay his money and take his choice.

The cemetery association of Grand Rapids will hereafter designate "the potter's field" as "the permit ground." But, as far as the people who are buried In it are concerned, there is not likely to be anything in a name.

The man who rode a mile a minute on a bicycle behind a locomotive belongs in the select group of unrelated beings who have undertaken to live without food for 40 days, who have climbed the highest glacier of Mount Blanc and have tried to prove the immortality of the soul by jumping from the Brooklyn bridge. He has proved once more to what enormous stress the human frame can be put when there is nothing to be gained by the putting

The willingness of many democratic leaders to evade the silver issue shows their insincerity three years ago in supporting it. From the democratic standpoint nothing has since occurred to mitigate the "crime" of the century. The country is still on the hated gold basis and the people are being "robbed" as much now as then. If the country was then on the verge of collapse because silver coinage was not free, it must still be in the same plight. Since in 1896 free silver was the only thing which could remedy these evils, how can demcerats who supported this issue consistturn from it now after other gods?

The bear garden condition of politics in Europe only serves to remind us that the exemplary savages in Brussels and Rome have often referred to the Americans as barbarians and vulgar shopkeepers and pig butchers. But there is nothing in our history. even when sought for in the border states, that can compare with the disgraceful mob in the Italian chamber of deputies or the murderous scenes in the streets of Brussels. The cable sententiously announced the political situation in that city when it said, "The paving stones of Brussels have won a victory." The parliaments on the continent are having a bad time, and the worst of it all is that everywhere the source of the trouble can be traced to the old antagonism of imperialism and socialism, every year fanned into a wider flame.

The country is getting so used to the return of the old prosperity that it seems to take it as a matter of course. Everybody knows it as the simple truth that business is better than ever before at this season, men are at work, wages are generally higher, foreign trade is immense and crops are good; factory shutdowns are unheard of, strikes are only for increased wages and not against reduction in wages, business failures are wonderfully few -in fact, the country is on the crest of a wave of prosperity as high as was deep the trough of adversity in 1896. That that trough was a genuine one will be attested by men of all classes-bankers, manufacturers, merchants, employees and workingmen. And if the silver theorist could not secure the adoption of their proposition in 1896 with the country's vitality at its lowest ebb and the people looking for a "savior" can they now really entertain the insane idea of being able to convert to their fallacy these millions of men who have seen republican and soundmoney pophesies fulfilled and democratic and silver prophesies fulfilled and silver prophesies falsified?

Dewey Medals Not For Sale.

The value which the jackies who fought under Dewey in Manila bay place upon the medals which the government distributed to them in recognition of their heroism on that occasion is shown by an incident which occurred at Baltimore a few days ago. One of the sailors on the revenue cutter Algonquin, who had served on the cutter Mc-Culloch in the battle of Manila Bay, was wearing one of the memorable but tons while on shore leave. He was approached by a stranger, who asked what kind of a medal he was wearing. "That's a Dewey medal," was the proud reply. After examining the token give you $100 for it." The Jack Tar's answer was prompt and forcible. He shot out a swift blow, straight from the shoulder, catching the stranger squarely in the face and knocking him across the pavement against a house, where he fell in a heap. Such is the proud and heroic stuff of which American sailors are made. Dewey medals are evidentinot for sale at any price.

Among the many summer schools of pedagogy and other things being conducted in various parts of the country the one at Worcester, Mass., appears to with new signs. The work has made be attracting the largest share of attention. This is due mainly to the peculiar character of some of the instruction imparted to the teachers there assembled. In a lecture the Rev. Dr. Hall enunciated this somewhat unusual proposition: "I believe in working off some effects of anger by well regulated fighting among boys. Every irascible boy ought to know how to box. To teach children not to fight is to train them to be moral cowards." It is possible that a little "well regulated fighting" might be an improvement on continuous quarreling and "scrapping," and there could be no serious objection to teaching boys how to spar. But the proposition "to teach boys not to fight is to teach them to be moral cowards' is hardly tenable. There is no such relation between moral and physical courage. The prizefighter who has no fear of sledge hammer blows and can endure severest physical pain is not ordinarily conspicuous for moral

One of the wonders of this marvelous age is the rapidity with which the remote quarters of the globe are being brought close together. According to the report of the Russian minister of Loomis. railways, when Russia's new Transsiberian railroad is completed the trip around the world can be made in 30 days. When Jules Verne some years ago sent his fictitious Phineas Fogg around the globe in 80 days, the exploit was deemed about as near absolutely impossible as the airy Puck's feat of putting a girdle "around the earth in 40 minutes." A few years ago, however, two American women, traveling in opposite directions, beat Fogg's mythical exploit, and when the great Russian railroad is in operation the record of their journeyings will in comparison read like the story of travel by the old fashioned stagecoach and sailing vessel.

Vermonters are enthusiastically at work to secure a statue of Admiral Dewey to adorn the entrance of the state capitol at Montpelier. It seems probable that Vermont will honor two of her sons at the same time by giving the commission for the Dewey statue to Larkin G. Mead, the sculptor who made the statue of Ethan Allen which some years ago was erected at the entrance of the statehouse. It is proposed to make the Dewey statue a companion piece to that of Ethan Allen. The hero of Manila is said to be greatly pleased that his Vermont neighbors regard him as worthy of being honored in a manner similar to that conferred upon the hero of Ticonderoga.

The Pennsylvania Railroad company is about inaugurating a pension system which, if carried out in accordance with published statements, will be highly commendable. It is proposed to establish a pension fund for employees who have been in the company's service for 30 years and to make retirement from the service compulsory at the age of 70 years. The proposed pensions would, it is said, call for the payment of $300,000 a year, and it would be money wisely expended, as doing much to maintain friendly relations between the company and its men.

The department of agriculture has is sued a bulletin on the protection of shade trees from insects which should be in the hands of all those who in any way treat public trees in squares or parks. So much effort seems to be wasted owing to lack of knowledge that the expert advice of the department should prove to be particularly valuable and save much time and many trees It is by the issuance of such bulletins that the agricultural department justifies its existence.

Admiral Dewey has concluded not to take the Carlsbad treatment. He has probably heard of the American treatment that awaits him and concluded that that's good enough for him.

WINE OF CARDUI SURE MEDICINE.

MRS. CAROLINE EVANS

It is a mistake to take any and every kind of medicine when you are sick. There is danger in it. Most of the so-called cures for "female weakness" do nothing more than deaden the pain temporarily, and when the effect wears away the patient is weaker and sicker than before. It is never wise to take chances. You have only one life, and that is dear and precious. If you have any pain, ache, disorder or weakness in the feminine organs, nothing will help you like Wine of Cardui. It helps do away with morning sickness during the early stages of pregnancy, and modifies the pains of childbirth; recovery is rapid and future health is assured. The Wine is purely vegetable, being made Of herbs whose medicinal properties act directly upon the organs of womanhood. It is a long-tried remedy, and has many years of success behind it. It
